Deed Restrictions

There have been a lot of questions and a considerable amount of confusion relative to the deed restrictions in the Northlake Subdivision. Some landowners are unaware that there are any restrictions, others doubt the validity of the restrictions and still others contest the authority of the NLLOA Restrictions Committee to enforce compliance with those restrictions.

I will discuss each of the above and hope it clears up some of the confusion. First, there are definitely deed restrictions on the land in Northlake. These restrictions were established by the officers of the Northlake Corporation. (They were the owners and developers of the subdivision.) Those restrictions apply to the 2202 acres of the subdivision and continue with the land, whether that land is in the original subdivision or included in a re-subdivision. For the most part any re-subdivision has restrictions more stringent than the original.

Second, the authority of Northlake Corporation to establish restrictions is well established in the Texas Land Codes.

Third, the enforcement authority of the restrictions was transferred to the NLLOA Restrictions Committees in a letter from Northlake Corporation. Each landowner should have been made aware of the restrictions when they bought their land.

Anybody wanting a copy of the deed restrictions should contact Lewis Cogdell, 931-2123, or contact the Williamson County Clerks Office where the restrictions are recorded in Volume 623, Page 774. The County Clerks Office can not only confirm the restrictions and their validity, but also the authority of the NLLOA Restrictions Committee. Restrictions are also listed on the North Lake Web Site, www.north-lake.org.

Scorpions getting the best of you?

The use of "Glue Boards" either flat or folded and placed along baseboards will do a fantastic job of capturing those before getting far into the house. Glue Boards can be purchased just about anywhere, often listed for catching Mice. Our new Habitat for Humanity Outlet has a good supply for a very reasonable price.

Hunting Season

We in North Lake are right in the middle of hunting season again. You may have heard shotguns being fired during dove season, which is over at the end of October for a while.

Deer season is now upon us. Archery season is October 2-31 this year. The general whitetail season in Williamson County runs from November 6, 2004 – January 2, 2005.

Hunting is allowed in North Lake. However, our deed restrictions limit hunting to land areas of at least fifteen acres. Rifles are not allowed, but shotguns are. If you are a hunter, please think before aiming and firing. There are a lot more houses here now than there used to be.

The people who live here should be on the look out for poachers. They ride the roads at night shooting the plentiful deer we have in this area. This is ILLEGAL. If you are aware of any activity of this type, please use the state's "Operation Game Thief" number and report this activity promptly. The number is 1-800-792-GAME (4263). There is a game warden who lives close to us.

The deer population in North Lake seems to be increasing annually. Please be careful when driving the roads, especially at night. A few miles per hour decrease could save thousands of dollars worth of damage to a vehicle. Now that the rut has started, the deer are not paying any attention to automobile lights, horns, or anything else, for that matter. Watch for those shining eyes at night.

Resident's Concern on Water Rates

At the March 2004 Board of Directors meeting of Chisholm Trail SUD it was decided to raise the water rates for people using less than 20,000 gallons per month and lower the water rates for customers using more than 20,001 gallons per month. A petition was created to protest the water rate change and was signed by many Northlake residents. The petition was filed with Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) and presented to Chisholm Trail in June. A letter was received from TCEQ stating that the application was administratively complete on June 18, 2004. The petition was forwarded to the Utility Certification and Rate Analysis Team. On July 16th a letter was received from TCEQ stating that the petition has been referred to the State Office of Administrative Hearings, Docket 2004-0979-UCR, to schedule a hearing date. On September 17th the Chisholm Trail SUD Board President called and wanted to know what the petitioners wanted. The petition contained 3 major points:

- 1) The petitioners were against the water rate increase.
- 2) The petitioners support water conservation and feel that the new water rates do not encourage water conservation.
- 3) The petitioners feel that the minimum fee is too high. They would like to just pay a water usage fee.

On October 7th, the customer representative met with Chisholm Trail's District Engineer and Lawyer to discuss the petition and possible water rate changes. The District Engineer stated that Chisholm Trail would not do away with the minimum fee, as this is an accepted water rate model. Negotiations continue.

On October 8th, a letter was received announcing a contested case hearing date. The hearing is scheduled for November 30, 2004 at 10:00 AM on the 4th floor of the William P. Clements Building 300 West 15th Street Austin. "The hearing will be a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court."
